

JCB Partners Honored as IBM Cognos North American Partner of the Year

JCB Partners was recently honored as the 2009 IBM Cognos North American Partner of the Year at the IBM Cognos Forum in Orlando, FL.

Denver, CO (PRWEB) June 15, 2009 -- JCB Partners was recently honored as the 2009 IBM Cognos North American Partner of the Year at the IBM Cognos Forum in Orlando, FL. This prestigious honor is a result of JCB's ongoing success of designing and implementing successful Corporate Performance Management and Business Intelligence solutions to a variety of customers spanning many different industries.

"This award demonstrates JCB's continued commitment to partnering with our clients, developing strategic business solutions, and ultimately delivering measurable value for management and equity holders", says Ed Wooden, Managing Partner at JCB. "Our consultants are experienced business professionals who bring functional, process and deep technical knowledge to all of our engagements. This, in turn, helps our customers make better business decisions based on collective experience and knowledge of leading industry trends."

In addition to the IBM Cognos 2009 Partner of the Year award, JCB has been recognized every year since 2005 by IBM Cognos for numerous Industry and National awards. For more information on how JCB Partners can help your organization, please visit www.jcbpartners.com

About JCB Partners:

JCB Partners is a management and technology consulting company specializing in Performance Management, Business Intelligence, and Data Warehousing. Our services also include Financial Transformation focused on driving efficiencies in the Budgeting, Forecasting, Consolidations, and Financial Reporting processes. Our experience spans 400 + successful Performance Management implementations over the past 8 years.

Our exceptional list of references is the result of developing solutions based on the principle that technology exists to enable and improve business processes and decisions. JCB's key to high customer satisfaction is applying our knowledge and experience to overcome the single largest failure point in technology oriented projects - the disconnect between the needs of the business and the implementation of technology. JCB Partners serves customers globally with offices in Chicago, Dallas, Denver, Los Angeles, and San Francisco.
